7. to ask and negotiate prices in shopping situations
8. to discuss and order food in restaurants
9. to talk about different transportation
10. to identify and describe Chinese cultural norms and customs, comparing and contrasting them with mainstream norms and customs in the United States

9. Representative Instructional Methods (Describe instructor-initiated teaching strategies that will assist students in meeting course objectives. Describe out-of-class assignments, required reading and writing assignments, and methods for teaching critical thinking skills. If hours by arrangement are required, please indicate the additional instructional activity which will be provided during these hours, where the activity will take place, and how the activity will be supervised.)

   1. Instructor lecture supported by using whiteboard and computer power point presentations.
2. Class activities, small group or paired partner practices throughout the instruction.
3. Use of DVD and audio CD of native speakers' dialogues, narratives, short plays and movies.
4. Student creation of sentences using specific grammatical structures and vocabulary.
5. Student productions of oral presentations, e.g. short dialogues and storytelling, etc.
6. Use of visual materials to reinforce instruction and to give insight into the Chinese culture.
10. Representative Methods of Evaluation (Describe measurement of student progress toward course objectives. Courses with required writing component and/or problem-solving emphasis must reflect critical thinking component. If skills class, then applied skills.)

   1. Class participation and performance
      a. class preparation and participation
      b. active involvement in various class communicative activities
   2. Timely completion of all assignments
