

2018-19 Instructional Program Review

Program Name: Enology/Viticulture

Program Contact: Herbie Hancock

Academic Year: 2018-19

Since the last program review, we have banked several courses that were outdated or did not prepare students for the industry (AG 151; AG 152; AG 200; AG 205). Furthermore, we revised several introductory courses to align with industry standards and new technologies (AG 100 – 106). Finally, we've added several courses that help the program stay relevant and innovative, including both enology/viticulture courses and courses under the new A.S. in Wine Business (AG 130; AG 131; AG 210; AG 250).

As part of the program's curriculum review, we also aligned the degrees and courses with institutional learning outcomes and strategic goals. At the program level, the A.S. degrees in enology/viticulture and wine business and the certificates in viticulture and wine pairing align with the following ILOs:

- Effective Communication
- Quantitative Reasoning
- Critical Thinking
- Ethical Responsibility/Effective Citizenship
