8. REPRESENTATIVE ASSIGNMENTS

Representative assignments in this course may include, but are not limited to the following:

Writing Assignments:

A museum paper, based on a work of art exhibited in the Bay Area, will ask students to demonstrate their ability to apply their knowledge and understanding of a work of art and its place in the history of art. Class participation offers students an opportunity to practice their ability to analyze and critique works of art. Out-of-class assignments include readings from the assigned and selected texts, and writing a museum paper. Written assignments related to field trips to area galleries and museums are also required. Group activities are based on writing assignments.

The museum paper, a stylistic analysis approximately 1000 words in length, will allow students to demonstrate their knowledge and understanding of the history of art and their ability to analyze a work of art, to compare and contrast it to other works of art, and to place it in its cultural and historical context. Written assignments related to field trips to area galleries and museums will have similar objectives.

Reading Assignments:

Reading assignments are from the textbook and other relevant resources.

Other Outside Assignments:

See above.
