FOOTBALL

Join Us for the 3rd Annual "Jum" Bowl!

Nicknamed "Jum" (short for Jumbo, an apt name for a guy who was 6-foot four), Charles Shoemaker Morris was an ardent supporter of the junior college idea. Modesto Junior College opened in 1921 and Morris was appointed its first dean. Six years later, Jum became Modesto's first college president. In 1931, Morris accepted the position of dean at San Mateo Junior College. He was given the title of president and superintendent at SMJC in 1937. Many recall his omnipresent, cheerful face towering above the crowds at sports events, slapping old-time football-players on the back while reminiscing about passes and end runs. Morris felt the strength of America rested in the junior college: "in its development lies the answer to the quest for equal opportunity for all."
